

Trend Data for Assessment Findings and Assessment Plan
Updated June 2014

Department/Program Graduate Certificate in Community Development Assessment Coordinator Gebeyehu Mulugeta

Instrument	2012/2013 Results	Actions Taken	203/2014 Results	Actions Taken	2014/2015 Results	Actions Taken	Summary
Student Self-Assessment	Overall, the responses by the self-assessing student indicate satisfaction with the program and therefore the program receives a Satisfactory grade, but responses to some questions suggest that we should and could do better.	Faculty revised curricula for all programs offered by the Geog unit in spring 2013	Overall, students' responses indicate satisfaction. Students' comments include: students should not be allowed to take 4810/5810 before they take 4800/5800; there should be more interactive learning in Cartography/GIS classes (traditional lecture format does not engage students)	Decision was made to address both student concerns.
Program Assessment	Designed to be administered in GEOG 5530 as part of the final exam of the course. The course was not offered during the 2012/2013 academic year and there is no report regarding this assessment instrument for the 2012/2013 AY	The course was not offered during the 2013/2014 AY & there is no report regarding this assessment instrument	Designed to be administered in GEOG 5530 as part of the final exam of the course. The course was not offered during the 2013/2014 academic year and there is no report regarding this assessment instrument for the 2013/2014 AY	Curriculum revised during 2013/2014 AY to improve student learning & increase enrollment; marketing brochure in preparation for distribution on campus, at professional meetings, & at local high schools and community colleges.
Capstone Course	Four students took the capstone course and two completed course successfully	Faculty revisiting the capstone project requirements to try to set a more realistic goal for the project.	Two students took capstone course in 2013-2014. One student received an A for the class and one received incomplete, "I"	The project that was completed was of superior quality.

--	--	--	--	--	--	--	--